

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A plurality of test patterns are set in a tester for testing semiconductor storage devices. Different test patterns are applied to respective semiconductor storage devices connected to the tester. A determination is made as to whether or not results of the tested semiconductor storage devices fall within a predetermined tolerance.